

How you will help promote a vision for The College Center?

We have to define “why” The College Center exists. As I’ve thought about this, I’ve come up with Build Your Future Today. Any successful visionary first defines why something is important, then how it will get done, and what specific steps need to be taken to reach the goal.

I will use creative ideas shared through technology, websites, social media, graphics, and video to communicate with external and internal stakeholders. I won’t let that substitute for valuable personal contact. I’ll share my vision with key people in both formal and informal settings.

I'll show students and families how The College Center can help them reach their goals for a successful future. I'll show my Lexington One family how The College Center helps them reach their goals in supporting their students and improving scores on state reporting.
